TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The original tournament began in 1967 as the Loyola Centennial Tournament. During its six year history, the Loyola Tourney attracted such outstanding teams as Michigan Tech, Harvard, Boston College, Boston University, Clarkson, Toronto, Alberta St. Mary's and Sir George Williams.

The Centennial Tournament was superseded by Hockey Canada which Loyola hosted for two years. Hockey Canada discontinued sponsorship and Sir George Williams University continued the tourney in 1974-75. The MICRON Tournament is now in its 7th year. With the backing of a major skate manufacturer "MICRON", it has become Canada's outstanding College Hockey Tournament, attracting the finest teams and players from both Canada and the United States.

Last year the CBC joined MICRON as a Tournament sponsor. This year the CBC and MICRON welcome the McGill University Redmen, the University of Toronto Varsity Blues, the Cornell University Big Red and the host, Concordia University Stingers.

Huskies nip Stingers in overtime for tourney win

Huskies 3, Stingers 2 (Overtime)

By RANDY PHILLIPS of The Gazette

The Concordia hockey Stingers have met the enemy, but they aren't theirs yet.

The Saskatchewan Huskies trimmed the Stingers 3-2 in sudden-death overtime to win the prestigious CBC-Micron Invitational tournament before a crowd of 800 at Concordia Saturday.

Centre Arden Knoll's less-than-classic goal seven minutes into the second overtime period gave the No. 2 nationally-ranked Huskies the victory in their first appearance in the four-team tournament.

Tim Leier and Peter Anholt also had goals for Saskatchewan which held brief leads of 1-0 and 2-1 after a scoreless first period.

Frank Morris and Kevin McGovern replied for the Stingers, who outplayed the Huskies for the most part and held a 51-35 margin in shots on goal.

The loss was Concordia's second in two days to Saskatchewan and third going to back a 6-2 defeat in the Canadian championship last March.

Saturday's game had all the signs of being a national final. Some observers called it a preview of this year's championship which will be held in Trois-Rivieres March 15-18.

Destined to meet

If the two are destined to meet again, Stinger co-captain Gilles Hebert wants the outcome to be different.

"We may have lost this time around, but this team, despite what some people say about it not being as good as last year's, is more ready to beat them," said Hebert, who was outstanding throughout the three-day tournament.

"We want them again. We can beat them," added Hebert. "It's so disappointing that we didn't do it this time.

"We're a young team, but we showed a lot of character and a lot of heart and I'm proud of this team," Hebert said. "We also have respect for Saskatchewan. They're not too bad either."

The final was Saskatchewan's fifth game in as many days. The Huskies played the Moncton Blue Eagles Tuesday and Wednesday, losing 4-2 and winning 5-4 in overtime.

Brilliant goaltending on the part of the Huskies' Bob McDougall and Stinger Tony Guerriero highlighted the final. They also had help from the eight goalposts and crossbars the teams hit in the game.

The Stingers had what appeared to be the winning goal called back at 8:43 of the third by referee Ron Harris, a former National Hockey League ref.

The game was relatively tame in terms of penalties. Harris called a total of 15, 10 against the Huskies.

Concordia failed to take advantage of four power-play opportunities in the first and outshot the Huskies 12-3. They outshot them 12-6 in the first 20-minute overtime period.

"It doesn't really matter who won. Of course, we would have liked to, but this game was so productive for us," said Arsenault, "because a lot of guys have never been in a game as close and played with as much intensity as this one."

Easy to explain

"The game's value is easy to explain; it's like a championship match in boxing compared to a sparring session."

"As a coach it helps me to know who can and can't play under pressure," said Arsenault.

The loss kept Arsenault five wins shy of the 500 plateau for victories in his 20 years as an intercollegiate coach. His 495th win came in a 8-3 rout of the No. 5 Brandon Bobcats Friday.

The game against Brandon was the only lopsided score in the tournament. The McGill Redmen became the first Quebec team other than the tournament host Stingers to appear in the tournament since 1976 when Trois-Rivieres lost the final to Concordia.

The Redmen were involved in two games which ended in ties and were the only unbeaten team. There was only a difference of a goal in one other preliminary game played, a 5-4 win by Saskatchewan over Concordia Thursday.

Husky defenceman Reid Williams was the tournament most valuable player. Named to the all-star team were Saskatchewan's Dennis Fenske, goalie Darren Turner of McGill, Blair Hopfner of Brandon and Mark Kosturik and Alain Boudreau of Concordia.
